bet-at-home.com: Gaming company bet-at-home.com AG expects corporation tax back payments to be paid by bet-at-home.com Entertainment GmbH as part of an ongoing tax audit on the basis of discussion of bet-at-home.com Entertainment GmbH with the tax authorities of the Republic of Austria for the assessment periods 2013 to 2018 expected to amount to Euro 11.9 mn. Contrary to previous years of practice by the tax authorities, the agreed internal transfer pricing between the bet-at-home.com Entertainment GmbH and its subsidiary Group companies will not be accepted at the previous level any longer. On the basis of the changed intercompany invoicing, as of 2019 additional corporate taxes are expected on the amount of Euro 5.5 mn to be borne by bet-at-home.com Entertainment GmbH. This is expected to be counteracted by reduced tax burdens in Malta, so that the additional burden in the Group should reach only up to Euro 5 mn. bet-at-home.com AG holds 100% of the shares in bet-at-home.com Entertainment GmbH, Linz, Austria. bet-at-home.com Entertainment GmbH owns 100% of the Group's operating companies, which are based in Malta and Gibraltar.

Lenzing: Austrian based fibers producer Lenzing contracts Wood to deliver world's largest lyocell plant. With the recently announced plans to establish a lyocell production facility in Thailand, the Lenzing Group is taking an important step in meeting the strong demand for lyocell fibers and is further strengthening the company's position as an industry leader in the specialty cellulosic fibers market. The proposed plant will be the largest lyocell plant in the world, with an annual capacity of 100,000 tons. The total investment volume for the first production line, including infrastructure and site development, amounts to approximately EUR 400 million. With Wood, Lenzing has found the ideal partner for this – both companies signed an Engineering, Procurement and Construction Management (EPCM) contract on the 15th of August 2019. Wood was selected on the basis of having the skills needed for a project of this size and an experienced team with a strong reputation for delivering in line with project stipulations. An important element for Lenzing is the start-up date of this project which was also confirmed by Wood. Following the plant completion in the third quarter of 2021, Lenzing expects to produce the first fibers at this site in the fourth quarter of the same year.
